BIRTHDAYS

Bill Muir April 8; Wes Van Dusen April 12

~~As As Jimmy Durante sang in the musical "Young at Heart",~~

"And if you should survive to a hundred and five.

Look at all you derive outta bein' alive.

Now here is the best part - you have a head start -

If you are amongst the very young-at-heart."

OBITUARIES

Our sincere condolence to Ken and Margaret McKenzie, Al and Jean Lee, and their respective families on the passing recently of the mother of Ken and Jean.

The thanks of the writer is expressed to those who sent messages of sympathy on the death of his sister in March.

NUPTIALS

Congratulations are extended to Rev. William J. Graham on his marriage to Alison Singer on March 6, 1982. On their return from a honeymoon in Hawaii Rev. and Mrs. Graham have taken up residence in the Valhalla Apartments,

HOCKEY SWEEPSTAKES

THIS WEEK

Ted Allen of Universiade '83 spoke on the need for volunteers to help with these games next year. We trust that the members in a position to do so will offer their services and make this World Event as successful as the Commonwealth Games of 1978.

The winner of the draw was Benny Van Loon.

With the opening of the 1982 baseball season one is reminded of an intense rivalry in the early part of the century between the Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants. The Cubs had an excellent infield with Frank Chance at first, Johnny Evers at second, and Joe Tinker, the shortstop, which provided a formidable double-play combination of Tinker to Evers to Chance that snuffed out many a Giant rally.

Franklin P. Adams, a die-hard giant fan, wrote an ode to these stalwarts that is a baseball legend.

"These are the saddest possible words;
Tinker to Evers to Chance.
Trio of Bear Cubs fleeter than birds;
Tinker to Evers to Chance.
Thoughtlessly pricking our gonfalon bubble;
Words that are weighted with nothing but trouble;
Tinker to Evers to Chance."

But who the hell was the third baseman? His name: Harry Steinfeldt. And how do you fit a name like that into the rhythm of a poetic double-play?

Be sure to attend next Tuesday's meeting to cast your ballot.
