Gordon Rennie, reporting on the Founders Day Celebration, stated that there over 60 in attendance to hear Red Laychuk of Crossroads deliver a well thought out address on the characteristics one looks for in a Gyro. Red illustrated his talk with a number of anecdotes.

President Allan and Ron Holmes represented the Edmonton Club at the Sherwood Park Silver Plate Dinner. They reported an entertaining evening but no prizes. Harry Mills, Chairman of the Hockey Sweepstakes Committee, said that sales were brisk, and that he would be posting the S.R.O. sign shortly.

Jack Agnew won the draw.

With the Grey Cup festivities dominant this week in our country, football is the major topic of conversation.

Some years ago Herman Hickman, a retired college football star of another era was appointed coach at Yale University. Some friends of his from his home town in Tennessee ^{brought him} for a birthday present, a burly, barrel-chested tackle named Apidoupolis, who in his first scrimmage tossed the varsity squad around like ninepins.

"He's terrific, conceded Hickman, "but can he satisfy Yale's entrance requirements? For example, how's his Greek?"

"He is Greek," explained his friends. "It's his English we're worried about."

Well this week all the coaches will worry about is football competence.
