THIS WEEK (22)

President Tommy welcomed the return of Norm Wildgoose who looked fit and well after a lengthy period of hospitalization.

Mort Morter, reporting on the Christmas Party, stated that there was am attendance of 51, and the Profit and Loss Statement showed a Net Profit of $11.20. This was made possible through a generous donation of wine by the President. The Net Profit was further enhanced following the dinner by the raffle of the table centre pieces designed by Doris Douglas. John Ross conducted the raffle which brought in further income of $82.00.

Boyd Slavik announced the results of the Football Lottery.

Western Final: Agnes Slavik. Grey Cup Game: Benny Van Loon.

CONGRATULATIONS

To Norm Wildgoose we extend our sincere congratulations on his appointment (over) to the Board of Directors of the Venture Capital Corporation established by the Province of Alberta which is providing a fund of 200 milliom dollars from the Heritage Savings Trust Fund for loans to entrepreneurs with quality investment ideas in high-technology projects. The aim is to broaden the base of the Alberta economy. The corporation is public and will operate at "arm's length" from the government. Investors will be able to participate in the purchase of 44 million dollars worth of shares and debentures in April, 1983.

While we are on business we might turn a moment to the construction industry which, of late, seems to have fallen on evil times.

George Baim tells a story of the late Sam Rayburn and his experience in constructing buildings during a more auspicious time.

In the late fifties Sam Rayburn, a powerful Texas democrat, was speaker of the United States House of Representatives. He had been it seemed forever, a round, pink, hardheaded, bourbon-drinking, bachelor Texan, and master politiciam. (L.B. Johnson was a protégé of his.)

Late in his career, Mr. Sam as he was called, was instrumental in having some millions of dollars voted for a magnificent new work, perhaps a new congressional office building. It was the cap on the building side of his career. Among his more irreverent colleagues it became known as Mr. Sam's Last Erection - a fitting tribute to one who had spent a lifetime as a member of Congress.

And now may you all have a joyful yuletide season.

Cheerio
